THE ALLEGED FRAUD IN THE CON-TROLLER'S OFFICE.

' CASE OF JAMES B. SMITH. The investigation into the charge against James B. Smith and John Fitzpatrick, for conspiracy to defraud the City Treasury of $10,000, came up again before Recorder Barnard yesterday, at his private office, James R. Whiting, esq., appearing for the prosecution, and John Graham, esq., conducting the defense. The cause was opened at 11 o'clock in the morning, and the whole time, from the opening of the case down to the hour of adjournment, was occupied with a discussion whether Mr. Charles Devlin, sec., should be the hour of adjournment, was occupied with a discussion whether Mr. Charles Devlin, sec., should be obliged to testify in the case.

After all the parties signified their readiness to proceed to business. Mr. Winting said: "We propose to swear Mr. Devlin."

Mr. Graham-Wait a little, Mr. Whring, before you begin, till can look over these maintes I have in my based. Mr. Graham, having finished reading his minutes, rore and moved the Court to direct the prosecution that it was their dury now to call up Mr. Flagg. The counsel alluded to his motion to the same effect at an earlier stage of the investigation, when he was overruled by the Court. He thought the case had assumed a turn now when, if his Honor had a discretion, he was justly called upon to exercise it. Mr. Graham did not see what the prosecution thus far had proved against those who were even nominally the defendants in this action. The counsel said his own opinion was now, and had been from the sart, that the statute commands that the complainant should be called first in the order of witnesses. The people have no right to counsel here unless the District-Altorney appears. The Court is responsible for the conduct of this case by the prosecution. Unless the counsel for the prosecution is able to state either publicly or privately why Mr. Flagg should not now be produced, I assist on his being called up. If he is preduced, we shall bring to light many important facts, at which we have before binted. I therefore insist that Mr. Flagg, who is the pillar of this prosecution, be now put upon the stand. the pillar of this prosecution, be now put upon th

The Recorder—Since the time I first gave my opin-The Recorder—Since the time I first gave my opinion on this question, I have examine it carefully, and I have in addition consulted several eminent lawyers, including the Judges of our higher Courts, John Mc-Keon, esq., and the District-Attorney for this County, and all have concurred in the correctness of my first opinion—that I have no power to direct the prosecution in what order they shall examine their witnesses. My own personal examination of the law has but confirmed the opinion—I at first expressed. I cannot, therefore, interfere with the counsel for the people in this matter, though I think it might expedite business should Mr. Whiting see fit to call up Mr. Flagg. I must, however, reture the motion.

must, however, refuse the motion.

Mr. Whiting—Mr. Devlin, will you be sworn !

Mr. Graham—No, he will not; wait a little, sir, if you please. I object, as the counsel of Mr. Devlin, that he be now sworn.

Mr. Whiting—Do I understand the gentleman to say that he objects, as Devlin's counsel, that he be now sworn.

sworn?

Mr. Graham—That is what I say, sir, and that is the position I assume. It is an extremely responsible duty on the part of counsel to take the course I now not be sworn in this case.

Mr. Whiting—I object to the reading of Devlin's affidavit. He may advise his client not to be sworn, and take all the responsibility of such advice. But that an affidavit should be produced here from Devlin that an affidavit should be produced here from Devlin himself, giving a reason why he should not be sworn, strikes me as preposterous. Devlin is a more witness: he is tot a party to the action.

The Recorder—Well, I cannot say what reasons the affidavit contains until I hear them.

Mr. Graham—Mr. Devlin is not a witness here. He is an actual party to this action, and has been all theme. In the first place, it is necessary to show that he is a party to this investigation.

The Recorder to Mr. Whiting—I shall have to hear the affidavit read, Mr. Graham have you any authorities on the point? I confess, notwithstanding, it strikes me as a rather novel proceeding.

Mr. Graham—I have authorities on the point.

Mr. Graham was then permitted to read the affidavit, which is as follows: Before the Hen. George G. Banard, Recorder In the matter of the complaint of Azariah C. Fizgiagi. ANDREW J. SMITH, Commissioner of Deeds.

Mrs. Whiting—That affidavit goes on file, no doubt. Mrs. Whiting—That affidavit goes on file, no doubt.
Mr. Graham—I suppose it does. In addition to the foregoing affidavit, Mr. Graham called attention of the Court to what the counsel regarded as cumulative evidence; that Mr. Devlin was the actual party simed at in this proceeding, and that therefore he wos a party to it. He alluded to the spirit of the interrogatories put by Mr. Whiting to Mr. Bradford and Mr. Cady, this is of whom the counsel designated as another of the pilars of this prosecution. We shall be able to show, said Mr. Graham, if deemed important, that an application has been made to the Rroadway Bank for evidence connecting Mr. Devlin with this accusation, and that this whole proceeding, from the first, has meant Charles Devlin, and nobody else.

lse.
Mr. Whiting—I don't mean to argue this question.
Mr. Grsham—Have you any facts in rebuttal of hose contained in this affidavit?
Mr. Whiting—We never heard of your affidavit till his morning. How could we have had time to collect this morning. How could we have had time to collect rebutting facts?

Mr. Graham—We'll give you an adjournment.

Mr. Whiting—I dont want any—I want to go on.

The Recorder—But there are two important questions raised here, Mr. Whiting, involving constitutional and legal rights, which I should like some little time to consider.

Mr. Whiting—What question? There is not a uestion about it. Their whole affidavit consists of iere inferences and opinions. There is not a fact rentioned in it.

mentioned in it.

The Recorder—But the point raised here is one of independent independent. The Recorder—But the point raised here is one of such gravity, in the event of an erroneous judgment by me, which I do not seriously apprehend, however, because I am very clear ou it how, that, for the sake of greater safety, I prefer some little time to examine it. Mistaken action at this stage of the case might subject me to heavy pecuniary damages.

Mr. Whiting then proposed to comment on the statements contained in the anidavit.

Mr. Graham objected, saying he must go into other matters before he could combat the affidavit itself.

The Recorder—Mr. Whiting recorders.

matters before he could combat the affidavit itself.

The Recorder—Mr. Whiting, go on. I do not desire to imprison Mr. Devlin. But if I am clearly satisfied he should be sworn, I shall certainly order it.

Mr. Whiting—It is most catraordinary that this collateral matter abould be thus gravely introduced, to the effect to block the progress of this investigation. The counsel here read various authorities, snowing that the magistrate had power to compel the witness to be swern, and if he refused, to commit the contumacious gentleman for a criminal contempt. What is this case! A distinct charge is here brought against James B. Smith and John Fitzpatrick, and it is not in the power of a mere witness to come into Court by affidavit and reture to be sworn. He must be sworn first, and then, if he cannot answer the distinct question put him under his direct personal oath without criminating himself, the law will come to his protection, and he may properly refuse an answer to the tion, and he may properly refuse an answer to the particular question. Mr. Devlin swears in this affi ta-vit that he has been a steady attendant upon this inestigation. On the contrary, over and over again as he been called for in this investigation, and he has

Mr. Whiting-Where was he! He was not visible

m this room.

Mr. Graham—He has often stood out in the hall. in this room.

Mr. Graham—He has often stood out in the hall.

Mr. Whiting—I affirm that he was not here present where we could look upon him, if he is a party to this suit, and the gentleman knows it. I am charged in this affidavit with having studied to connect Mr. Devlin with the defense in this case, and to bring him here hefore your Honor. I study to connect him with this defense! Why, his own handwriting brings him here. His own finger-marks visible on these documents before me have brought him here. I have had nothing to do with it. The studborn facts revealed by the papers before me have brought him here. And perhaps he can explain how his name and handwriting are so surprisingly connected with these papers. If he can, it is due to himself that he be sworn and explain away this mystery. And perhaps he can. I do he can, it is due to himself that he be sworn and explain away this mystery. And perhaps he can. I do not know till I hear him testify. If he is the innocent man he calls himself in his affidavir, whence the necessity of his running to counsel? Would an innocent man in his situation run to cause! He is not the party in this proceeding. But if he is conseaus of guit that is his own affair. We here see a high minded public officer of the Street Department of the City of New-York, as soon as he is subpensed in this case, at once run to counsel—able counsel—three in this case, at once run to counsel—able counsel—three able counsel. If he has been connected with the perpe-tration of this finand, then I admit he is a real party. able counsel. If he has been connected with the perfectivation of this fraud, then I admit he is a real party. But he must be sworn first to accertain it. If his testimony will criminate him let him say so. The law will protect him. Nothing can excuse him from testifying except conscious guilt. He swears, in this afficant, he is innecent. Will you refuse to swear a man who swears he is innecent? Has an innocent man a right to refuse to be sworn? Why, your Honor, the stage never equaled this last performance by the party on the other side. Nor is there anything to equal it in Mormonism, in point of novelry, with all its diverse capacity to satisfy the maw of Brigham Young. Who taid Devlin he was suspected? We have not declared it. The Bible tells us the wicked flee when no man pursueth. The single, distinct question here is, shall Mr. Devlin be sworn? That is the question. This he refuses to do, as he says in his affidavit, by advice of his counsel. There is only one thing that can in any way implicate Mr. Devlin. If he signed the name of Fitzpatrick to this check of $5,000, and did it without the permission of Fitzpatrick, then he is implicated. If Devin forged that name, then Fitzpatrick will be Fitzpatrick to this check of $5,000, and did it without the permission of Fitzpatrick, then he is implicated. If Deviin forged that name, then Fitzpatrick will be discharged, and Devlin will at once become a party. But until he is sworn, and confesses his agency, he cannot be held a party here. There is nothing to this affidavit but mere opinious. Not a fact is contained in it.

motion.

Mr. Graham-I would like to submit now what I

Mr. Graham—I would like to submit now what I have to say in reply to Mr. Whiting.

The Recorder—Go on.

Mr. Graham then spoke at great length in general terms about the rights guaranteed by the Constitution of this State. From this he passed to the agency of Mr. Flagg in springing this prosecution, and his object was to hit Mr. Devlin. The coursel cited the provision in the Constitution which says that no man, in a criminal case, shall be compelled to be a witness against himself.

The Recorder—Can he be a witness till he is sworn?

Mr. Graham—Yee: the moment has is called by

The Recorder—Can he be a writess till he is worth.

Mr. Graham—Yee; the moment he is called by a subpena he becomes a witness.

The Recorder—My impression is not till af er he is

Mr. Graham proceeded. That is the very thing we complain of—that they have not informed Mr. Devliu of their intended accuration. They assail him with the stiletto; they approach him with muffled tread, and then strike Mr. Devliu. The counsel here read from various authorities in support of his motion, and among others, cited the decision of The People agt. McMahon, in which he said it was held that "for the "purpose of applying rules of evidence, to be suspected in its to be charged." Now we aver that Mr. Davlin is not any surpected. But this whole presentation is similar at him alone. And, therefore, air. Devlin is perfectly justifiable in refusing to be sworn. I trust there will be no rairoad speed in deciding this question, but that his Honor will take abundant time to consider i".

After some consultation, the case was adjourned to Tue-day next at 11 o'clock a. m., when the Recorder will render his decision on the question before him. Mr. Graham proceeded. That is the very thing we

The features of the Stock market to-day are much the same as those of yesterday. At the morning Board large amounts of stocks were thrown upon the market from hands too timid or too weak to hold them, while the orders to buy were by no means commensurate with the desire to sell. The recent fall has used up margins to a great extent, thus forcing sales which have, for the moment, oversupplied the market with stock. In the meantime, the parties, whose operations were mainly instrumental in advancing the market during the rise of January and February, and who drew with them a large and influential body of outsiders, have made but feeble efforts to resist the downward tendency of prices, confining their efforts principally to one stock, New-York Central. Losing the support and influence of these prominent parties, speculation, even with a money market increasing in ease, naturally languishes, and as soon as the advancing movement of prices is arrested parties who bought only for the rise begin to sell, and the market turning downward other parties rush in to realize best prices, and the quotations fall off, until the disappearance of margine forces the commission brokers to sell ut their customers, and the fall goes on with accelerated force until the movement has exhausted itself and prices have touched points low enough o bring in new buyers and inaugurate a new speculative advance. This is the process which has been going on the past ten or twenty days. Several leading operators came to the conclusion, nearly at the same moment, that the time to realize profits had arrived, and began to sell: their satellites and the outsiders followed their lead, and hincilla lachryma. The reverse movement has to some extent already commenced, although it is generally considered probable that p may yet go lower; but we learn from commission brokers that the bulk of their orders from the public to-day and yesterday were to buy and not to sell, and we know of quite important amounts of leading fancies which have been bought by foreign houses for Europe. The decline of 7 a 8 & cent in Central, 15 & cent in Erie, 11 P cent in Hudson River, 10 P cent in Southern Michigap, 10 e cent in Toledo, 15 & cent in Rock Island, &c., has attracted the attention of speculative capitalists to the market as likely to be near the turning point for another rise. If weak holders have all been slaughtered, and this outside demand grows to any extent it needs no ghost to come to tell us that the lowest points have been touched. There is scarcely an adverse feature to be discerned in any quarter of the finarcial horizon, and precisely the same elements for a rise exist now as existed two months ago, when it appeared almost impossible to satisfy the grasping desire of the street and the public to buy stock. The most marked decline at the First Board was in New York Central and Erie, the former of which fell off to Sc, registered sales, with transactions afterward at 854 against 89 vesterday. Erie sold as low as 221, having closed at 25 yesterday. The transactions were large; Hudson River declined 1 to cent, Harlem 1 to cent; Reading rold down to 50, a decline of 24 P cent; Michigan Southern opened at 20, but recovered to 204. Toledo was 421, but improved to 431, against 43 yesterday. Galena was heavy at 90. Rock Island was among the firmest stocks, showing an improvement of 1 P cent. At the close of the First Board there was a slight rally from the registered prices, and between the Boards there were some sales of Erie at 23}. At the Second Board, a persion of the decline of the morning was regeined, and the market at the close was strong, a leadng operator taking 1,000 shares New-York Central at 874, buyer ten days. In the Bond market there was not a large movement, the principal transactions being in Missouri 6s, which fell off to 80]. Erie securities were also heavy. A sale of Government 5s was made at 1031, and is at 1151. The closing prices were: Erie, 24]: Reading, 51; Central, 87]. Hudson River, 26; Harlem, 101: La Crosse, 81; Cumberland, 181; Rock Island, 74: Galena, 90 Michigan Central, 631, &c. There has been a large business done in foreign Exchange for this steamer, and most of the desirable bills been taken out of the market. During the day the leading drawers advanced their rates, and the market closed | P cent better for Sterling than yesterday. The business has been mainly confined to Ster-ling, French remitters taking English Exchange in preference to France, the quotations being about one ? cent in favor of the former. Thus while Sterling has been quite active French bills have been unsalable. The range of sales has been 105 to 1074. Bank bills and banker's signatures sold at 6; #7 at the opening of business, but closed at 7 074 P cent; France 5.25 #5.171. Freights are steady, but quiet. The engagements to

A sale of white goods, hosiery, &c., was well attended, and the bildings were spirited. There is no change in the Money market on call, excepting, per-haps, increased abundance. The range of rates is from 4 to 7 & cent. The leading stock houses get considerable amounts at 5 & cent. Paper is hardening, and rates are at least i e cent higher than ten days age.
